Aventura Worldwide Transportation Service announces new Chief Operating Officer

Aventura Worldwide Transportation Service's general manager and vice president, Scott Tinkler recently transitioned into his new role as the company's COO, based on obtaining co-ownership of the company. After four years in his previous role, CEO Neil Goodman recognized the natural evolution of Tinkler into co-owner and COO. In his new role, Tinkler will implement strategic and operational efficiency plans, further develop marketing and branding strategies, as well as business development goals.

"After choosing not to be involved in my family's business, a few years ago an opportunity presented itself and I knew the timing was right to join the firm," said Tinkler. "I wanted to support my parents and the incredible company that I have watched them build from one car to a fleet of vehicles. I look forward to contributing to the strength and growth of the Aventura Worldwide future."

With years of executive leadership, Tinkler will continue to monitor all that he previously oversaw while taking on new responsibilities.

"I knew for sure that Scott would quickly develop a knack for this business. With his leadership qualities and his management skills acquired from his time in the U.S. Marines, to 12 years of working with professional hockey players at the highest level, I knew he would have no problem adapting to our fast paced industry," said Goodman. "After three months of seeing him in action, I knew I was right on."

Tinkler is a former Marine and Desert Storm Veteran, having served in the U.S. Marine Corps from 1988-92. Before joining Aventura Worldwide he was an equipment manager for the Florida Panthers of the National Hockey League from 1993-2005.
